Use the Right Canning Method

Submitted by Christina Rittenbach, M.S.

Many people have been canning dozens of jars of green beans only to find they've wasted their time and lost a lot of food.

That's because they're still canning beans at home using a boiling-water canner instead of a tested pressure canning process, according to the National Center for Home Food Preservation. The beans looked fine coming out of the canner, but then they turned cloudy and jars popped open, sometimes forcefully.

These beans are spoiling from being under-processed. What's worse, the beans still could look good and the jars could be OK, but the beans could contain the botulism toxin, which, if eaten, could cause serious poisoning or death.

Botulism can develop in any jars of improperly canned vegetables and meats, not just beans, without showing any signs of spoilage.

Spores of the Clostridium botulinum bacteria are very, very resistant to heat. Even heating them in a boiling-water canner for hours will not kill them if they are in jars of meat and vegetables. The bacteria eventually will germinate into actively growing bacterial cells that will produce a deadly toxin.

Bacteria like the conditions inside closed jars of low-acid foods, such as vegetables and meats, so they must be killed during the canning process if you want to preserve the food safely.

For more information on canning food safely, contact the North Dakota State University Extension office in Stutsman County at (701) 252-9030, or visit www.ag.ndsu.edu/food.

James River Senior Center has a part-time volunteer cashier position. This position would be a flexible, 8 - noon, 1 - 3 days a week. Please contact Rhonda Sahr at 252-2882 ext 1002 or email at jamesriver@csicable.net for more information.

North Dakota Senior Meals

Good Nutrition For Healthy Living

People age 60 or older and their spouses are eligible to eat at Senior Meal Sites (Center I, & Streeter) Others eligible for Senior Meals are individuals with disabilities under age 60 who reside in a housing facility primarily occupied by older individuals where there is a Title III meal site (Gardenette, Jameshouse): individuals under the age of 60 with disabilities residing with an eligible client in a non-institutional household; and volunteers, who are under 60, providing meal services during meal hours. Individuals under age 60 who do not meet this criteria must pay full cost of service. Senior Meals are an affordable way to help maintain your health. The full cost to provide a Senior Meal is: $10.63. A limited amount of Older Americans Act and state dollars are available to help cover some of the program costs. The suggested voluntary donation for a meal is $4.00. Please contribute what you can. Meal tickets or envelopes will insure your confidential contribution. Food stamps and Dakota Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT) cards are accepted. No eligible individual will be denied a meal due to inability or unwillingness to contribute.

Reminder to our Senior Meal Participants

If you receive Home Delivered Meals and this is the month that your 1 year Registration is due, you will receive a phone call from Kathy Evenson that it is time for her to come see you in your home and update all of your information. If you are a person that eats at one of our Congregate meal sites such as the Gardenette, Center I, Jameshouse, or Streeter and it's time for your yearly Congregate Meal Registration, you will be contacted by Kathy Evenson. She will catch up with you at lunch time or on a supper night. She will stop at your meal site. The meal registration is painless, takes a short amount of your time and it is required under the guidelines of the Older American's Act. Thank you for your cooperation. Nutrition Staff of James River Senior Citizens.

Volunteer Appreciation Night

Fact vs Fiction: Common Hearing Aid Misconceptions

Fear and lack of knowledge prevent many people from getting the hearing help they need. Hearing aids are a common effective treatment for hearing loss. If you think you're a candidate, get the facts and keep an open mind.

HEARING AIDS ARE UGLY AND BULKY - Today's hearing aids are designed to be sleek and discreet. They range from the smallest-in-the-canal (ITC) to behind-the-ear (BTE) which are versatile and easy to use. All major manufacturers strive to make their products as small as possible.

I ONLY NEED ONE HEARING AID - Chances are, if you noticed your hearing loss, it's already much worse than you realize, and almost always affects both ears. Your brain is wired to hear best with both ears sending it sound signals. If you needed glasses, you wouldn't order them with just one corrective lens, would you?

HEARING AIDS ARE FOR OLD PEOPLE - Because today's hearing aid wearers are younger than in the past, hearing aids themselves are made to appeal to them. Sleek designs, discreet operation and the ability to integrate with smartphones, computers and televisions make these devices suitable and attractive to young and old alike.

BUYING HEARING AIDS ONLINE IS A GOOD IDEA - The shape of your ears, as well as the configuration and degree of your hearing loss, is completely unique to you. Only a hearing healthcare professional can select the best products to fit your loss and lifestyle, and make sure that they are working at optimum capacity. The time and effort are worth far more than the short-term discount you might find buying online.

HEARING AIDS DIDN'T WORK FOR MY FRIEND, SO THEY WON'T WORK FOR ME - Even though hearing aids might not have worked for someone you know doesn't mean they won't work for you. Most hearing healthcare providers sell hearing aids with a trial period in which you can "test drive" the devices to be sure they are working for you. If you think you're ready to change your hearing health and improve your quality of life, don't hesitate. Find a local hearing healthcare professional and learn the facts about hearing aids and give yourself the gift of better hearing!

EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

FAREWELL

"I have been lucky enough to be able to personally tell each and everyone of you how blessed I have been to meet some very 'interesting', caring, warm-hearted people along my days at work and made some very true friends. Thank you. It was a joy making you all feel at home at JRSC with lots of memories and a very full heart I have resigned my position at James River. Thank you all!"

-Nancy Kunn

Unfortunately, Nancy will be resigning Sept 6th. She will be missed!

CONGRATULATIONS!

Mirt Brown was honored this past month for her many years of service for James River Senior Citizens Center. The presentation took place at her favorite place, the Gardenette meal center. Mirt loves her time with "her people" and will go above and beyond to be sure they are well cared for. She has quite a history with JRSC beginning in 1968, and having several roles including executive director. Mirt is certainly a valuable asset to JRSC!

Thank you for all you do, Mirt!!

Change your perception about hearing, and get ready to change your Life!

Most people don't know what to expect from hearing aids. Misperception and second-hand experience with bulky, whistling, old fashioned analog devices continue to influence the way people think about all hearing aids.

Hearing aids have changed dramatically from a generation ago- from outward appearance to internal technology -making them vastly more appealing and effective.

TOP 10 FINANCIAL SCAMS

(Third of a Four Part Series-By N.C.O.A.)

(To Be Continued in Next Issue)

6. Internet fraud

While using the Internet is a great skill at any age, the slower speed of adoption among some older people makes them easier targets for automated Internet scams that are ubiquitous on the web and email programs. Pop-up browser windows simulating virus-scanning software will fool victims into either downloading a fake anti-virus program (at a substantial cost) or an actual virus that will open up whatever information is on the user's computer to scammers.

Their unfamiliarity with the less visible aspects of browsing the web (firewalls and built-in virus protection, for example) make seniors especially susceptible to such traps. One example includes:

Email/phishing scams

A senior receives email messages that appear to be from a legitimate company or institution, asking them to "update" or "verify" their personal information. A senior receives emails that appear to be from the IRS about a tax refund.

7. Investment schemes

Because many seniors find themselves planning for retirement and managing their savings once they finish working, a number of investment schemes have been targeted at seniors looking to safeguard their cash for their later years. From pyramid schemes like Bernie Madoff's (which counted a number of senior citizens among its victims) to fables of a Nigerian prince looking for a partner to claim inheritance money to complex financial products that many economists don't even understand, investment schemes have long been a successful way to take advantage of older people.

8. Homeowner/reverse mortgage scams

Scammers like to take advantage of the fact that many people above a certain age own their homes, a valuable asset that increases the potential dollar value of a certain scam.

A particularly elaborate property tax scam in San Diego saw fraudsters sending personalized letters to different properties apparently on behalf of the County Assessor's Office. The letter, made to look official but displaying only public information, would identify the property's assessed value and offer the homeowner, for a fee of course, to arrange for a reassessment of the property's value and therefore the tax burden associated with it.

Closely related, there is the potential for a reverse mortgage borrower to be scammed. Scammers can take advantage of older adults who have recently unlocked equity in their homes. Those considering reverse mortgages should be cognizant of people in their lives pressuring them to obtain a reverse mortgage, or those that stand to benefit from the borrower accessing equity, such as home repair companies who approach the older adult directly.
